The Swansea Bay Regional Engagement Team (SBRET) is one of four teams set up in Wales to help ensure EU funding proposals meet existing and future opportunities and investments at regional levels.

The SBRET work across the counties of Carmarthenshire, Neath Port Talbot, Pembrokeshire and Swansea, and across all sectors in the region to ensure the effective participation and success of EU funded investments. SBRET supports the region in the delivery of its economic regeneration strategy to improve the prospects of our communities, businesses and economy.

Eight of 11 City Deal Business Cases now Submitted for Approval

A number of major projects forming part of the £1.3bn Swansea Bay City Deal investment in South West Wales are expected to be approved in coming months.

Business cases for eight of the 11 City Deal projects across Carmarthenshire, Swansea, Pembrokeshire and Neath Port Talbot have now been submitted to the UK and Welsh Governments for approval.

This is among the progress that's been made since the Prime Minister signed the City Deal in a visit to Swansea last March. Other progress includes continuing construction of the 'Yr Egin' creative and digital cluster at the University of Wales Trinity Saint David campus in Carmarthen, as well as the submission of an outline planning application for the Life Science and Well-Being Village set for Delta Lakes in Llanelli.

Expected to boost the regional economy by £1.8bn and create 10,000 high-value jobs over the next 15 years, the City Deal includes funding from the UK and Welsh Governments, the public sector and the private sector.

Aimed at revolutionising the way sectors like energy, life sciences, the creative industries and manufacturing are delivered across the Swansea Bay City Region, the City Deal will include major investment in world class digital infrastructure, as well as a Skills and Talent initiative that will give local young people a pathway in schools and colleges to access the jobs that will be opened up. These are the 'golden thread' projects that will underpin all elements of the City Deal.

Cllr Rob Stewart, Lead Leader for the Swansea Bay City Region, said: "Since the City Deal was signed, an exhaustive amount of work has been taking place behind the scenes. This includes the preparation and submission of eight of the 11 project business cases for approval to both governments, with the first sign-offs soon expected.

"On a project by project basis, we can start drawing down the City Deal investment that's been secured once individual business case approvals are in place

"Comprehensive work is also taking place to finalise the business cases that have yet to be submitted for approval."

The City Deal will be overseen by a Joint Committee, made up of Leaders from participating councils, health boards and universities.

Paving the way for the body to be formally established, a Joint Committee Agreement report that will outline principles of working is expected to be considered by all four regional councils in coming months.

An Economic Strategy Board (ESB) for the City Deal will also soon be established to maximise the impact of the City Deal by engaging with businesses across the City Region. A private sector chairman of the ESB will be appointed imminently.

Business and Social Enterprise Support – Working Together for Cohesive Regional Delivery

The Swansea Bay Regional Engagement Team hosted a successful information and networking event 'Business and Social Enterprise Support – Working Together for Cohesive Regional Delivery' on February 15th in the Mercure Hotel Swansea.

To start the day, more than 60 attendees were given the opportunity to 'have their say' on Welsh Government's policy paper - Regional investment in Wales after Brexit. This paper and consultation is the first step in the process of designing a new approach to regional economic development and investment in Wales. It forms one in a series of Securing Wales' Future papers setting out the vision for Wales once we have left the EU.

Presentations from 'Be the Spark' Initiative, Regional Skills and Learning Partnership, Swansea Bay City Deal, Local Authorities and Further Education Colleges from the region as well as the suite of Business Wales operations ensured that by the end of the day the attendees had the opportunity to hear about the wide range of business and social enterprise support available in the region.

Presentations from the day are available here.

Young people in South West Wales to benefit from major EU investment

Around 2,000 young people from across South West Wales are set to benefit from a new skills programme backed by £4m of EU funds.

Led by Pembrokeshire County Council, and delivered by local authorities across the region, the Cam Nesa initiative will provide intensive support to out-of-work 16-24 year olds who face significant challenges in securing employment.

Young people in Ceredigion, Pembrokeshire, Carmarthenshire, Swansea and Neath Port Talbot will benefit from the scheme.

The investment will fund a range of support including mentoring and counselling, and courses to improve basic and personal skills, self-esteem and digital literacy.

The three-year programme will also provide opportunities to achieve vocational qualifications and take part in work experience and job taster sessions.

Finance Secretary, Mark Drakeford announced the funding for Cam Nesa as part of a wider £26m EU-backed investment to help young people across Wales into work.

Speaking at an event in Swansea to mark the impact of EU funds in Wales and the 60th anniversary of the European Social Fund, Mark Drakeford, said: "I am delighted we have so far invested £193m EU funds to help our young people unlock their potential and improve their career prospects.

"These projects are further examples of the importance of Wales receiving replacement funding from the UK Government post-Brexit so that we can provide much needed opportunities for young people and help them secure a prosperous future."

Cam Nesa is a £5.7m initiative that will also be funded by the participating local authorities in South West Wales.

Cllr Paul Miller, Cabinet Member for Economy, Tourism, Leisure and Culture in Pembrokeshire, said: "We are delighted to welcome further EU funding for this important and exciting project.

"The funding will allow us to invest in extra levels of support for disadvantaged and vulnerable young people in our society, giving them the opportunity to both improve their skills and their employment prospects. This investment is good news for Pembrokeshire and for the region."

Skills for Industry

The Skills for Industry European Social Fund (ESF) project aims to develop the skill levels of employed individuals, including self-employed participants with no formal qualifications and those with qualifications up to and including Level 7.

The project aims to assist progression by supporting training that ensures work placed learning provision meets the needs of employers and individual workers.

The project also addresses key skills gaps in the labour market which can support economic growth and individual progression and, therefore, ensures that skills remain current and the needs of employers are met.

Alex, a participant on the Skills for Industry ESF project, had already completed his Level 2 qualifications in Health and Social Care and was keen to progress further so he enrolled at Gower College Swansea to attain a Level 3 Diploma. Not only did this increase his skills level within the workplace, it also resulted in better care for his clients, increased performance and specialist knowledge, and optimum returns from the employer's investment.

The support of the Skills for Industry project enabled Alex to increase his confidence within his work role, progress to the higher level qualification and learn to adapt and embrace change.

Skills for Industry funding played a large part in enabling Alex to develop in his role and to continue improving his skills whilst remaining an essential part of his organisation. As a direct result of Skill for Industry funding, he has achieved a Level 5 Advanced Practice qualification which has allowed for significant progression within his role.

Alex is now working towards his TAQA (Teaching and Learning) qualification, all the time growing in confidence and gaining new skills to enable him to have a better understanding of his role and the sector in which he works. In addition, he will have the opportunity to pursue additional career paths within the organisation and pass on his knowledge and skills to other employees.

Alex has worked hard through all levels - from starting off at Level 2 with limited skills and knowledge to having completed a Level 5 in advanced practice. This has been a considerable personal achievement and Alex can now use his knowledge and skills to manage a team of staff and ensure the smooth operation and management of his workplace.

West Wales Rivers Trust awarded £37,045 LEADER funding

Grŵp Cefn Gwlad – the Local Action Group (LAG) for Carmarthenshire have recently provided funding to West Wales Rivers Trust. This is funded through the LEADER programme, which is part of the Welsh Government Rural Communities – Rural Development Programme 2014-2020, funded by the European Agriculture Fund for Rural Development and the Welsh Government.

The money was awarded to undertake an innovative pilot project to investigate a novel method of restoring streams that are affected by acidification.

Acidification affects many of the upland streams draining the Cambrian Mountains in Carmarthenshire particularly those that have extensive conifer plantations in their catchments. This project involves the Doethie tributary of the Tywi where limestone granules will be used to correct the acidity and restore river ecology including fish populations.

The project will help to restore fish populations which will help to improve the rural economy of Carmarthenshire due to the envisaged contribution to angling and angling tourism. Improvements in biodiversity are also anticipated in restored river ecosystems. During the 2 year pilot continuous monitoring of the water quality will take place with findings shared with other likeminded Trusts.

The exciting Tywi Valley Path project has received a funding boost of £128,000

The money will go towards developing part of the route in Abergwili as well as a parking area.

The grant has been awarded through the Welsh Government Rural Communities - Rural Development Programme 2014-2020, which is funded by the European Agricultural Fund for Rural Development and the Welsh Government.

The council will provide match-funding of £32,000 towards constructing this section of the path which follows part of the old road and will link to the internal paths of the Bishop's Palace Gardens.

Cabinet Secretary for Energy, Planning and Rural Affairs Lesley Griffiths AM said: "I am pleased to be able to support the Tywi Valley Path and it is great to see this project begin to take shape. The path will of benefit to both local people wishing to enjoy the outdoors, enhance the rural community and boost tourism to the area."

The scenic Tywi Valley Path will follow the route of the former Carmarthen and Llandeilo railway line as much as possible, and is expected to boost tourism and the local economy, as well as encourage active and sustainable travel.

The path is expected to attract around 20,000 visitors a year when complete, and generate between £860,000 and £2million a year in the local economy.
